Glendale Faces
Critical
Situation
in Present
Plan of Sewage
Disposal

ACCORDING to data secured today from Registrar Lyons' office, it will be possible for 12,000 Glendale citizens to vote at the coming sewer bond election, 12,230 registrations having been received up to the time of closing, which was Saturday, December 8.

By taking 42,000 population as a basis for figuring, this means that there are 5000 citizens in Glendale who will not be able to vote on the momentous sewer question on account of their failure to register.

THIS is surely to be regretted and it is to be hoped that those who failed to register will not be held accountable for its failure if the bond issue does not carry. Every citizen of Glendale, if loyal should do everything possible to win support for the sewers. There never was and never will be a time when votes will count so much for the future prosperity of the city.

Those who do not agree with us in this statement will surely side with us when we say that the health of Glendale residents depends on favorable action.

PRESENT conditions cannot continue. The soil is getting saturated with liquid filth as to refuse to absorb any more. The place on Colorado street, where the septic tank overflow is bubbling through the paving and flowing in the street is a good example of what we may expect before many months in other sections of the city and should we hesitate or mark time much longer, we will meet likely have to face an epidemic of some kind. If this should happen and in consequence deaths occur the individual who through lack of interest or failure to vote, helped to bring about such a condition would never forgive himself.

GLENDALÉ must have an adequate sewage disposal system regardless of what the cost may be. Better have it now and help our growth than be compelled to have it later on, but after the growth has been retarded.

Those citizens who look at the matter through a possible increase in their tax bills only, should recognize that the immediate additional growth in population which the sewers will make possible will assume the proportion of the cost and the tax will be no higher than now under the present condition.

INCREASE in population means more homes, more homes means increased valuation, increased valuation means more income to the city even without any raise in the tax rate.

B. AND P. WOMEN'S CLUB, EAGLE ROCK, ANNOUNCES

All meetings of the sections of the Business and Professional Women's club are postponed until after the holidays.

Music section will meet January 4. Spanish section will meet on Tuesday, January 15. A meeting of the physical education section will be called the first part of the month to plan for the remainder of the year. Notices will be mailed to those who have signed up. Others interested should watch for further press notices.

The regular monthly meeting of the club will be held the second Thursday in January in the kindergarten room of the Central school. The program will be in charge of Miss Muriel Gardner, who will give some character dances and present some of her pupils in some class plays and dances. Since all the meetings had been postponed, the White Elephant party likewise was postponed and will follow the program of that evening.

COTTAGE INDUSTRY WILL BE REVIVED

[By Associated Press]
LONDON, Dec. 17.—A practical and scientific effort is being made at the Long Ashton Institute, Bristol, to revive and develop the ancient English willow industry.

After considerable research specimens of the creeping willow have been found, and are now under cultivation. The slender canes this plant sends up are very tough and for finer basketwork are valued at $500 a ton.

Many Meetings Being Held to Prosecute Glendale's Sewer Campaign

GLENDALE WILL HEAR ABOUT SEWER

Big Mass Meeting at High School Tomorrow Evening

Citizens of Glendale who want full information relative to the proposed bond issue to provide this city with sewers, and to find out just how the money is to be expended should attend without fail the meeting to be held at 7:45 Tuesday evening in the auditorium of Glendale Union high school on Harvard street.

At that time city officials will be present to explain the contract entered into by the cities of Los Angeles and Glendale, and Mr. Smith, sewer engineer, will explain the general plans for a sewer system and what the cost will be of the outfall sewer trunk line, of laterals, etc., so that each property owner may know to what he is liable, and after these explanations have been made the meeting will be thrown open to general discussion.

Many persons are very anxious to know the total approximate per front foot of the completed sewer and this is the place and time to secure such information.

NEAR HALF A MILLION IN PERMITS FOR MONTH SO FAR

Over $47,000 worth of building permits were issued this morning at the city hall. At noon the total for the month so far was $482,644 and for the year to date, $9,704,703.

Permits issued recently include the following: A. D. Hartley, 3 rooms, 455-A Hawthorne, $1600; Mrs. George B. Tibbet, 2 rooms, 720 Porter, $500; H. B. Woodhill, 2 pairs, 1800 Capistrano, $550; H. L. Hook, addition, 821 South Glendale, $100; C. C. Wellborn, 4 rooms, 1133 Allen, $1500; W. E. Cleveland, 7 rooms and garage, 449 West Stocker, $6500; William Stofft, 9 rooms and garage, 1200 North Pacific, $8000; Otto Schneider, 8 rooms and garage, 1721 Hiawatha, contractor, C. C. Swift, $12,000; J. E. Peters, 5 rooms and garage, 1139 Justin, $2000; W. E. Nesbit, 6 rooms and garage, 1107 Scofield, contractor, A. J. Pelt, $4300; W. H. ### "GLENDALE IS BRIGHT JEWEL IN PRIMEVAL WILDERNESS," WAITE

The following communication has just been received from E. R. Waite, secretary of the chamber of commerce of Shawnee, Oklahoma, who during his recent visit to Glendale was feted by the local Chamber of Commerce and luncheon clubs:

"The way to foretell the future is by the past. Just a few short years ago Glendale was merely a spot in a primeval wilderness. Today this wilderness is jeweled with a beautiful modern city, bright and new. This is what Glendale has done in the favored spot of nature."

"What of its future? If that miracle city has been built in a few short years, what will it be in a few years from now?"

"Glendale is today a city of opportunity, a city of pep, push and prosperity, a city with infinite resources and possibilities. Glendale welcomes men and women who are willing to work and serve and share in her prosperity."

USUAL RUN OF AUTO ACCIDENTS IN GLENDALÉ

Several collisions were reported over the week end to the Glendale police department, but none resulted seriously.

Mrs. Frances E. Ball of 133 South Everett street reported she was obliged to run her machine up on the curb at Everett and Wilson avenue to avoid being struck by a machine driven by Geo. E. Burson of 1119 East Chestnut avenue. The collision occurred about 2:15 Saturday afternoon.

The machine of Ernest Grigg of 319 West Wilson avenue was overturned about 5:45 Saturday afternoon as the result of a collision but no one was injured. Mr. Grigg entered the intersection from the east on Wilson avenue. The other machine was driven by J. C. Reinhard of 546 Glenwood road, entered the intersection from the north on Central avenue.

"When I entered the intersection," stated Mr. Reinhard, "I did not see any other car. When I was near the middle of the intersection, a car flashed by me. My bumper hit its right rear wheel. The machine went a little way and turned over. I stopped my machine at the southwest corner at the curb about twenty feet from where the collision occurred."

EAGLE ROCK MAIL IS INCREASING MUCH IN VOLUME

According to the superintendent of the local postoffice the mail has heavily increased the last two days. Fifty sacks of mail were received Saturday, and an equal number sent away. This, however, is only a foretaste of what it will be a week from now. Two extra carriers were placed on duty Friday as well as one extra clerk. This number, also, will be greatly increased by tomorrow.

While the street signs are still being changed, there has been considerable confusion lately, due to the improper naming of streets by those who send mail. In Los Angeles proper there are several streets that are the same as those in Eagle Rock. For example, in Los Angeles, there is a Central avenue, Sycamore, Sierra Vista and many others that are duplicated in Eagle Rock. When all the new signs have been put up, the confusion is expected to end.

TO GIVE DRAMA IN ESPERANTO

[By Associated Press]
VIENNA, Dec. 17.—"Iphigenia" is to be the play which will be offered in Esperanto for the entertainment of visitors to the Sixteenth Esperanto Congress which is to be held in Vienna in the fall of 1924.

Dr. Zamenhof, the inventor of Esperanto, made a translation of Euripides' celebrated tragedy and well-known Austrian actors have already begun studying the roles in the international speech.

This drama was produced in Esperanto at Dresden 14 years ago.

WOODLANDS FOLK HEAR OF SEWERS

City Dads and Company Engineer Give Clear Explanation

Members of the Verdugo Woodlands Improvement association to the number of one hundred or more, met at the Wigwam Saturday evening to hear from Mayor Robinson and other representatives of the city government, and from Mr. Smith, representing Burns & McDonnell, sewer engineers. The purpose of the meeting was to ascertain how the proposed sewer bond issue will affect representatives of that district who voted bonds three years ago in the sum of $50,000 for a septic tank and activated sludge system which has never been put in operation.

Mr. Smith explained the proposed sewer system to connect with the Los Angeles outlet as outlined by the firm he represents, and the streets upon which mains will be laid if the plans are carried out.

Speeches were made by Mayor Robinson, Councilman Sam Davis, W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the sewer committee and president of chamber of commerce, and by City Attorney Morrow, who stated that the Verdugo Woodlands district will be assessed the same as all the other sections of Glendale under the proposed bond issue of $1,600,000. When asked if the city could not assume the $50,000 issue for which the district has received no benefits, he replied that it could not legally do so, that about $40,000 of the proceeds of the bonds had been expended for the sewer main on Canada boulevard and for the activated sludge plant, and the main would be a part of the sewer system.

After some discussion on motion of W. C. Wattles, seconded by J. L. Bolen, the association voted to sustain the proposed sewer bond issue regardless of the previous investment.

H. A. Graves, president of the association, commended the meeting and Mrs. J. R. Butler recorded the minutes.

REPORT MANY CASES AT SANITARIUM HOSPITAL

The following news item concerning operations, etc., at the Glendale Sanitarium hospital were gathered this morning:

Miss Eva Johnston of Montrose is doing nicely today following a major operation yesterday.

A daughter was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rikens of 919 East Colorado street.

Phillip Leidorf, son of C. H. Leidorf of 1500 South Brand boulevard, had his tonsils removed yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Prussing of 429 West Elk avenue are parents of a son born this morning.

A Caesarian operation was performed yesterday upon Mrs. B. F. Farley of 480 North Verdugo road, Burbank. Both mother and daughter are reported to be doing well.

Minor operations were performed upon Mrs. H. B. Noland of 336 North Belmont street and Miss Mary Louise Wymore of 337 East Garfield avenue yesterday.

CHRISMAS BUYING HARD WORK? LET BONNIE JEANNE AID

Is Christmas shopping hard work?

Hundreds of housewives, who bear the brunt of the holiday buying, are ready and able to testify that at no time of the year are the nerves and physique put to such a strain. The crowds to battle, the lists of gifts to hunt up, the hard work to get transportation facilities, etc., all do their bit in adding to the burden of Christmas shopping.

But there's a way out.

And this statement naturally brings to mind Bonnie Jeanne, the sprightly little Miss of the Daily Press staff who is actually making Christmas shopping a pleasure. Bonnie makes a round of the stores, notes all the bargains and appropriate Christmas gifts for young and old—then describes her "finds" to the readers of the Press. Better let her help you.

Look for her page tomorrow (Tuesday). There will be just "oodles" of appropriate gift suggestions. She will tell you just where to find them and how much they cost.

Read Bonnie's page tomorrow and profit thereby.

If you don't see just what you want tomorrow wait for Friday's edition.

HEROES THEN THEY WERE, BUT NOW FORGOTTEN

The Daily Press has the privilege of publishing a poem written by Captain Frank C. Tillson, Burbank, who is a well-known magazine and newspaper writer and poet. He is the author of "Digouts and Dreams," a book of war verse published in Chicago a short time ago.

Captain Tillson is a real war veteran and hero, having served in the world war in the infantry, was wounded and gassed and twice cited for gallantry in action. The following poem is submitted:

"I'm home, with a silver button stuck in my coat lapel.
And selling cigars at the counter, after I've laughed in hell.
Fat men with beautiful women, jolly, carefree and gay,
With never a thought for the war that's past—or the beggar who had to pay—
Pass, or stop for Havanais, nice and polite as can be;
But I'm just a part of the fixtures—
They don't give a damn for me.

"Five years ago it was different. We were up with the 'Tom-mies' then,
Holding the line along the Somme, and that was a job for men;
Raiding parties and night patrols, gas and shells and blood,
With Jerry shelling particular hell, and we stuck there in the mud;
The fat men buying bonds at home, at four and a half per cent—
And I'm earning an honest living, the same as before I went.

"They called me a 'gallant hero,' the day that we marched ashore,
While our fat friends stood on the sidewalks and cheered till their throats were sore,
But that's all done and forgotten. Funny, how quick they forget.
And wonder that we, who saw it, are dreaming about it yet.
That was the hour of romance—that was our taste of fame.
'Yes, sir, A Corona Perfector?' God, it's a glorious game."

THREE FIRES OCCUPY TIME OF GLENDALÉ DEPARTMENT

Three fires were extinguished over the week-end by the Glendale fire department. The most serious was a blaze in the attic of the home of Mrs. S. P. Braddish at 911 East Lomita avenue which is believed to have started from a heater. Damage to the frame building is estimated at $50. Capt. Johnny Meyer was in charge of the fire fighters. The other two blazes were rubbish fires. One Saturday afternoon on the west side of the railroad track at the end of Broadway; the other Sunday afternoon at 1507 South San Fernando road in the yard of the Tropic Feed and Fuel company.

OBREGON NOW HEADING FOR VERA CRUZ

Withdraws Forces From Other Points to Move Against Port

President Obregon, according to the meagre dispatches received by the Associated Press from Mexico, has completed the organization of his western forces in their drive against the rebels' stronghold of Guadalajara and has turned his attention to the east, where the rebel thrust from Vera Cruz is apparently threatening the capital.

Advices from the government side as to the military movements are almost completely lacking, but the rebel headquarters at Vera Cruz continues actively to claim successes. The rebels say they hold Puebla City and Cuatla, the two lower points of an irregular triangle which has Mexico City as its apex. Cuatla is only 46 miles southeast of the capital. The rebels also claim further defections from the government forces in Guerrero, Yucatan and Tabasco.

General Obregon's private secretary, in a message received at the American border, says the president is confident his troops will remain loyal and that the uprising will quickly be quelled. He is encouraged, the message says, not only by expressions of loyalty from the farmers and workers, but by reports of differences among rebel leaders, some of whom are declared to be seeking the elimination of Adolfo de la Huerta, the presidential candidate who has headed the movement from the start.

More than 6,000 government troops have been withdrawn from Mexico City, Puebla and nearby garrisons to reinforce the army holding the Vera Cruz front for the purpose of initiating the drive against the De la Huerta forces. President Obregon has departed for Apizaco. When he started he was almost jovial and expressed utmost confidence in the success of the government's offensive tactics. He said, "We are going straight to Vera Cruz." The president plans to take in person the leadership of the troops used in the offensive.

CHARTER MEMBER LIST FOR COOLIDGE CLUB GROWS FAST

Since the announcement of a proposed Coolidge club to be organized in Glendale Wednesday evening, so much enthusiasm has developed and so many applications for membership have been received that the meeting place has been set for 7:45 at Glendale Union high school.

The list of those who have asked to be enrolled to date includes: Messrs. and Mesdames Ed M. Lee, E. U. Emery, Asa Hall, H. E. Bartlett, Daniel Campbell, E. W. Hayward, W. S. Rattray, D. Ripley Jackson, Charles L. Chandler, Calvin Whiting, Charles H. Toll, W. E. Evans, Thomas D. Watson, Stephen C. Packer, R. A. Blackburn and John Robert White; Judge and Mrs. Sidney N. Reeve, Judge and Mrs. F. H. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. Opal Greenwalt, Mrs. Lillian Dow, John A. Logan, Arthur Campbell, George Karr, C. E. Kimlin, John C. Sherer, R. L. McCourt, A. W. Tower, Thomas L. Brown, Frank Vesper, W. E. Hewitt, J. D. Hanna, Dru Nicoles, W. E. Lee, H. S. Webb, A. T. Cowan, C. E. Norton, Charles F. Parker, Dr. Harry V. Brown, Rev. C. R. Norton, Comrade Thos. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. White.

Progressive citizens who seek such town improvements are often met with the statement, "We can't afford it." Yet, when it comes to the protection of our homes and families we cannot afford to be without sewers, and it will be an embarrassing question to answer as to WHOSE FAULT IT IS if Glendale fails to provide the necessary sewer facilities for making it not only "the fastest growing city in America," but the MOST MODERN CITY IN AMERICA.

NOVEL ACCORD IN A WAGE STRIKE

ANTWERP, Dec. 17.—A strike in the diamond industry has been settled by a novel agreement by which the pay of employees will be governed by the condition of the diamond market.

The workmen will profit about five percent above the basic weekly wage when the market is up and will lose the same percentage when there is a slump.

REV. TINNING HAS RAINCOAT STOLEN

Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the Presbyterian church, early last night had a raincoat stolen from the church offices. The thief evidently entered the building some time in the afternoon and visited the office.

Glendale's Sewer EXPERT INFORMATION FURNISHED DAILY ON THIS GREAT PROJECT

(In this column will appear from day to day, comments on the sewer project, which is the biggest thing that has ever confronted the citizens of Glendale, also articles prepared by the publicity committee of the sewer committee of the chamber of commerce which may be considered as expert information.)

Elsa-Jane Realty, 116 Los Feliz road:

"Must have sewers. Anyone who opposes this issue is, in my estimation, 'a little off.' Glendale will doubtless go backward if the bonds are not voted. But I would rather

PENDROY'S WILL BE OPEN THREE NIGHTS THIS WEEK

The Pendroy department store, Harvard at Brand, will remain open Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week. This is for the accommodation of those who find it inconvenient to do their shopping during the regular store hours, or who prefer to shop of evenings.

This store's aim is efficiency and service to all—and the crowds that have thronged into this popular shopping place are ample proof that they uphold their standard.

Shop early if you can, but, if you cannot do so—Pendroy's will assure you that all parcels will be safely delivered in Glendale or vicinity before Christmas day.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The Aeolian Music club held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Miss Dorothy Potter, 167 East Mayfield avenue last Friday evening. After the business session, presided over by Robert Kelson, president, a splendid program was given under the direction of Arthur C. Crowl, Miss Margaret Hauber and Miss Mildred Belcar, contributing much to its success. Christmas carols, sung by the entire club concluded a most delightful evening. Miss Potter was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. A. Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bonin and daughter of Mojave, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Young of South Los Angeles avenue.

The local school will close for the Christmas vacation tomorrow. During the afternoon the instructors will entertain their pupils in their rooms—and in the evening all children of the La Crescenta valley will be guests at the Community Christmas tree and entertainment under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' association. The program to be given by the La Crescenta and Montrose schools will be in three parts. "The Toy Shop" in which the lower grades will take part—Christmas carols by the upper grades, and "Birds Christmas Carol" entitled "Rugles in the Rear." The committee on decorations are transforming the auditorium and patio in a bower of greenery. Christmas bells and holiday. The entertainment is open to the public. The program will commence promptly at 7:30.

The balloon dance given by the La Crescenta Woman's club, at the school auditorium last Saturday evening, was a most enjoyable affair. Balloons and the Christmas motif was carried out in the decorations in the auditorium and patio. Mrs. C. E. Culberson was club hostess and was assisted by Mrs. C. A. Haskins, A. Aiken, M. S. Collins, H. S. Bissell, C. J. Klatt, C. O. Miller and E. N. Nettleton. The next dance by the club will be a barn dance and will be given at the school auditorium Saturday evening, January 12, with Mrs. E. N. Nettleton, hostess.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL ITEMS

The J. W. Andree family of 462 Pioneer drive motored down to San Pedro for over the week end.

Mrs. M. H. Anderson of San Pedro spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Alexander of 1214 South Maryland.

C. M. Wells, son of Mrs. P. A. Wells, 338 West Harvard street, is spending Christmas at home. Mr. Wells is employed in San Francisco.

Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Boyer entertained at their guests at Sunday night tea at their new home, corner of Milford and Orange streets, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lockwood and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ferguson.

"SMILIN' THROUGH" IS GIVEN SPLENDID PRESENTATION

Persons who have been pessimistic about Glendale's growth in cultural lines keeping pace with its development commercially, should have been encouraged by the beautiful production of "Smilin' Through" put on by the Royal Stock company Saturday night at the Tuesday Afternoon club house auditorium. It demonstrated that Glendale has a company of which the city can be proud and revealed every talented member as a star.

Those who had seen the play as originally produced by Jane Cowl and her company declared it compared very favorably with that presentation, which had such a long run in New York and which played everywhere to crowded houses. The fact that the Tuesday club theatre was not filled from footlights to foyer showed that Glendale has not yet waked up to the fact that it has a stock company worthy to compete with those of Los Angeles.

However, there is time to make up for this lack of appreciation, because the Royal Stock company has come to stay. According to Rodney Hildebrand and his partner, Mr. Royal, who made brief speeches between the second and third acts, they "have nailed their shoes to the sidewalks" of the city they have chosen and propose to stay with it. They explained that for seven years they have been playing in Vancouver to crowded houses but decided they wanted to establish themselves in Southern California, the coming act center of the world, and after canvassing the field, chose Glendale as the most promising spot. They have the advantage of a large repertoire of plays and the further advantage of a well balanced corps of players, whose conscientious, artistic, intelligent work can be depended upon for interpretations certain to delight the audiences which will soon be crowding this auditorium.

James Dillon as John Cartaret, and William Chapman as Dr. Owen Harding as character actors and foils to Edythe Elliott as the sparkling, Irish colleen "Kathleen Dunneannon," all "fire and dew," could hardly be surpassed. Rodney Hildebrand, who carried the dual role of father and son—"Jeremiah Wayne" and "Kenneth Wayne," appears to have all the qualities a leading man should possess. Myrtle Pepin as the housekeeper "Ellen," and Roscoe Karns as "Willie Ainsley," were beyond reproach.

At the close of the second act they received an ovation of applause and were showered with flowers. It was then that Mr. Hildebrand and Mr. Royal outlined the policy of stay with their theatrical venture, an announcement received with prolonged applause by an audience which included Mayor Spencer Robinson and Mrs. Robinson, and other members of the city council and many social leaders interested in music and the drama.

"Smilin' Through" will be played Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the present week. Next week, beginning Wednesday, December 26, "Pollyanna" will be the attraction, with Miss Elliott in the title role.

MRS. PECKHAM PRESENTS
FLAGS TO CHURCH SHE LOVES
During the Sunday morning service at the First Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. C. M. Calderwood, called attention to an interesting bit of information contained in the printed calendar relative to two beautiful flags presented to the church by Mrs. C. L. Peckham, one a Christian flag, the other the flag of the United States. They were placed in time for the Sunday services and were hung high where they made a bright and beautiful spot of color.

A note from Mrs. Peckham accompanying the flag which was published in the calendar, read as follows: "I give these flags to the church I love in memory of my mother and father. My mother, Mrs. C. C. Chandler, made coats for the boys in blue during the civil war. My father, C. C. Chandler, fought from '61 to '65 to free the slaves."

SPEAKING DANCES AND MUSIC FOR TUESDAY CLUB

Speakers for the regular luncheon meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club on December 18, which will begin at 12:30 o'clock, will be Mrs. W. E. Mabey, district chairman of music, and Mrs. Sears, editor of the Southland magazine. Mrs. Mabey will speak on "Christmas Music" and Mrs. Sears' topic will be "Art." The children of the members are to be guests at a Christmas program to be held following the regular session of the club at 2:30 o'clock.

The program will include dances by Margaret McCubbin, Alex McDougal, Lloyd McKinnon and Tommy Wonder and readings by Ethelwyn Kent, Margaret McCubbin and Lloyd McKinnon have appeared in Peggy Hamilton's fashion pictures. Little Tommy Wonder will be remembered for his recent performances at the Gateway theater. He is especially noted for his "dummy dance." Ethelwyn Kent, a daughter of one of the club members, is a talented pupil of the Cumnock School of Expression. Alex McDougal has appeared before Glendale audiences several times. He is the son of one of the club members.

Sons and daughters of Tuesday Afternoon club members will be guests at a New Year's Eve dancing party to be given for them by the club. Splendid music is being provided to make this affair a very delightful one. Each will be privileged to invite a guest.

ORATORIO "MESSIAH" AT POMONA COLLEGE

Tuesday, December 18, at 4 p. m., and Wednesday, December 19, at 8:15 p. m., in Bridges hall of music, at Claremont, Handel's great oratorio "The Messiah" will be rendered by a choir of 125 voices directed by Professor Ralph H. Lyman, head of the department of music at Pomona college. Four great Los Angeles artists will sing the solo parts: Raymond Harmon, tenor; Fred McPherson, baritone; Lora May Lampert, soprano; Florence Middaugh, contralto. No reserved seats. Uniform admission fee of 50 cents. Not a profit making matter but one of the many ways in which Pomona college recognizes her obligation as the intellectual, aesthetic and spiritual "Service Station" of Southern California.

GLENDAL ELKS HAVE PLEASANT INFORMAL DANCE

Glendale Elks and their ladies enjoyed a very pleasant informal dancing party at the club house on Saturday night. Excellent music was furnished by a five-piece orchestra. The customary 11 o'clock feast was given by Gerald Dockery. During the evening refreshments were served. A big dancing party has been planned for New Year's Eve by the Elks and plans will be announced later.

Tonight the Elks will hold their annual Christmas jinks. There will be a short business session, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The program, which will include boxing, athletic stunts, vaudeville and other features making for a good time, will begin about 8:20 p. m. During the evening there will be a "feed" in the banquet hall.

LUCILLE CORBETT WILL BROADCAST CHILD STORY

Lucille Corbett, the children's "story lady" of 112 East Chestnut street, will broadcast an animal story from the KJL station in Los Angeles on December 26 at 6:40 o'clock.

CHORAL CLUB TO MEET TONIGHT FOR REHEARSAL

At 7:30 o'clock tonight the Glendale Choral club will meet at the high school auditorium to rehearse the Christmas music for the community program to be given on Christmas Eve. The oratorio section of the Glendale Music club will join in the rehearsal. Alexander Mitchell, president of the Choral club, urgently requests all singing people to help with the Christmas music and be present at tonight's meeting. Those having the music for the Hallelujah chorus are asked to bring it.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH HAS SPECIAL DAY FOR YOUNG FOLK

Sunday was a very full day at Central Christian church. The men's and women's classes, under the teaching of J. L. Mize and Mrs. Eva Hutton, continued the study of the trend of the world toward mission for Southern California, time down to the present. The day's lesson was the story of Paul's call to Macedonia from Troas and the first results of his invasion of Europe with the gospel of a risen Christ.

At the morning service Rev. C. A. Cole talked on the subject, "A Missionary Heart," showing that when a man's heart is set apart on the world and partly on Christ, he becomes a spiritual slacker, getting farther and farther away from Christian ideals as time progresses, verifying Jesus, saying that "you cannot serve God and mammon." The afternoon was given over to young people's work. At 4 o'clock an enthusiastic meeting was held in the bungalow, which has been fitted up as their special headquarters. They had as guests the male quartet of Broadway Christian church. These young men sang several selections and one of their number, Wayne Neal, who is secretary of the Young People's work for Southern California and superintendent of the work in the Broadway church, gave a very interesting talk describing his trips all over the Southland distributing New Testaments and other Christian literature from his colporteur's car, the first of his kind in the world.

At the evening service the young people had charge, furnishing the choir and all of the special numbers. Ivan Dow contributed a cornet solo, four intermediate girls sang "Holy Night." Ruth Cox gave a solo and the quartet sang. Then Wayne Neal gave a most encouraging talk on the progress of the work in his department, closing by telling of the slogan adopted, "Think victory, talk victory and plan for victory only, in Christ's name."

Rev. Cole closed the service with a short sermon on the "Symbols of Christian Endeavor." He said that the symbols of Japan's government are three in number: A mirror, signifying "Know Thyself," a crystal, "Be pure and shine," a sword, "Be sharp and conquer." These will apply well to Christian Endeavorers, he said for they must search their hearts and be sure their inward thoughts are right; they must be pure in speech and action, shining for Christ; they should be thoroughly fitted with the Christian armor and be able to wield the sword of the spirit which is always sharp and sure to conquer.

An inmate of a certain penal institution recently received a call from the warden who said: "I understand you got in jail on account of a glowing mining prospectus."

"Yes," admitted the gentlemanly prisoner, "I was quite optimistic." "Well," continued the warden, "the governor wants a report on conditions in the jail. I want you to write it."

SHRINERS ENJOY '500' PARTY AND FILL GIFT BARREL

Members of Omar tent, No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, and their friends enjoyed a very delightful "500" party given Saturday night at Masonic temple, Glendale, to raise funds for defraying expenses at the Christmas jinks and party to be held on December 21. In addition to a small admission charge, each guest was instructed to bring a pound of provisions, an article of bedding or toys, which were deposited in a barrel at the door. These are to be distributed among the poor on Christmas day. There will be a barrel at the door on December 21 again and the members are asked to bring a small donation of groceries, fruits, etc.

The committee in charge of Saturday night's party included Mrs. Libbie Cutting and Mrs. Maude A. Smith. First prizes for high scores were awarded to Mrs. Arthur Richardson and Mr. Symms. Consolation prizes went to Mrs. Charles Evans of Eagle Rock and D. Ripley Jackson.

The Christmas jinks on December 21 will be for members of Omar Shrine and their own families. Those planning to attend are to notify Mrs. Maude A. Smith, 405 East Lomita avenue. There will be a little Christmas play, carols, refreshments and other features of entertainment.

AMERICA ONLY MISSIONARY NATION SAYS REV. HOSKYN

The Sunday morning session of the Men's Bible study class at the First M. E. church was devoted to consideration of the position of America in the world's missionary work. The class teacher is the Rev. Edward Hoskyn of Glendale. Following are a few of the many strong features of the lesson brought out by the teacher:

"The world owes its adherence to a belief in 'only one true and living God' to the Jews, and the world-wide missionary work now being prosecuted by all other religious denominations takes its missionary spirit from those ancient Jews who, from the time of Abraham, have followed the command of Jehovah in their efforts to Christianize the whole world. From Abraham to Jesus there was an unbroken line of missionary enthusiasts. After Jesus came Peter and Paul and other followers of the Christ, until today we have hundreds of thousands of devoted disciples of Jesus spreading His gospel of love and compassion through all nations of the earth."

In passing, Rev. Hoskyn paid a glowing tribute to the women of all churches who have done so much for the missionary cause. Special reference was made to the mother of John Wesley, the founder of the Methodist Episcopal church, and others such as she. "As we revere the virgin mother of Jesus, to whom we are indebted for the blessed Saviour of the world, so should we love and respect the mothers of the land today who lay the foundation of Christian manhood and womanhood in the homes of our children."

America was lauded as "the only missionary nation" on earth. The teacher declared his belief that from the churches of this nation would go forth the spiritual power which shall evangelize the whole world.

LITERATURE SECTION WILL GIVE CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

On Wednesday afternoon, December 19, a Christmas program will be given at the regular meeting of the literature section of the Tuesday Afternoon club to be held in the tea room at 2:30 o'clock, with Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, curator, presiding. Roll call is to be answered with "Christmas Thoughts." The program will include "The True Spirit of Christmas," by Mrs. R. W. Bolton; "Christmas Giving," by Mrs. H. D. Fortier; reading, by Mrs. G. H. Rowe. Three little girls will sing Christmas carols. Mrs. Julia Robinson, daughter of Mayor Spencer Robinson, will sing Christmas songs.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Homer Lockwood and Mrs. J. A. Bolton. The curator has requested that members bring some toy or clothing for tubercular children up to 14 years of age, and also some sort of Christmas cheer for the ex-service men in the hospitals, such as jellies, magazines, etc.

MEN'S CLUB WILL GIVE DINNER TUESDAY NIGHT

Tuesday evening the Men's club of the Congregational church will meet for their regular dinner which will be followed by a business session at which officers for the coming year will be elected. H. C. Wilcox is president of the organization.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM BY GRAND VIEW SCHOOL

A most enjoyable Christmas program was given Friday afternoon, Dec. 14, by the children of the Grand View school for their parents and friends. At the close of the program a short business meeting of the P. T. A. was held, followed by the serving of chocolate and wafers.

Santa Claus was unable to visit the school in time for the program, so he sent "Krazy Kat" and "Ig-natz," who distributed candy canes to all the children, and added much merriment to the occasion.

Following is the program given by the school:
Group of songs, by kindergarten.
"Christmas Clock," "Christmas Dolls" by B-1 grade.
Song and recitations, by A-1 and B-2 room.
Recitation, "Night Before Christmas," by Myrtle Cowper.
Whistling solo, "Joy to the World," by Mary Ellen Fringer.
"How We Caught Santa," by Violet Stevenson, James Person and Paul McClain.
Song, "O Christmas Night," by Virginia Ogle, chorus by fourth grade.
"Silent Night," by fourth grade.
Piano solo, by Verne Smith of fifth grade.
Recitation, by Junior Fritch of fifth grade.
Play "Plan That Failed," by George Person and Leonard Davis of sixth grade.
Recitation, "Old Santa Claus," and "Christmas," by sixth grade.
Solo by Rhoda Covert.

NAZARENE CHURCH SERVICES CONTINUE ALL PRESENT WEEK

The services at the church of the Nazarene on Sunday opened the fourth and last week in the evangelistic campaign that is being conducted. The sermon by Rev. Hatfield at the afternoon service was from the text which reads, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me." Vernon Wilcox of Lankershim had charge of the young people's meeting at 6:30 p. m. "Who is My Neighbor" was the subject of the evening sermon. In this service Rev. Hatfield told of his conversion to Christianity.

The meetings continue all this week with a service each night at 7:30. Those who have not heard Rev. Hatfield as yet should take this opportunity of so doing.

GLENDAL SHRINERS ASKED TO ATTEND FESTIVITIES

Glendale Shriners and their families are among those invited to attend the big Christmas tree festivities for the poor children of Los Angeles, to be held at the horse show area, Ambassador hotel, on Friday evening, December 21, at 7 o'clock. Al Malaiakh Temple has opened headquarters for the Shrine relief work at 110 South Spring street. It would be interesting to stop there and learn how Al Malaiakh Temple investigates all cases and extends relief and Christmas cheer.

Donations of food, clothing, etc., are gratefully received and all cases of distress or need in this locality should be reported promptly, as it is impossible to investigate cases which are reported just before Christmas. Motley H. Flint is chairman of the Christmas relief work and James W. Jump is chairman of the Christmas tree festivities.

CONGREGATIONAL S. S. TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

Friday evening the Sunday School of the Congregational church together with members and friends will have their annual Christmas tree and party in the lower auditorium, to which everybody is invited.

ARTISTS' SECTION MUSIC CLUB MEETS NEXT FRIDAY

On Friday, December 21, the artists' section of the Glendale Music club will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles B. Guthrie on Grand View avenue. There will be a program of Schumann music.

COIN PURSE WAS LOST ON STREET SATURDAY NIGHT

A coin purse containing a five dollar bill, three one dollar bills and some change was lost Saturday night by Mrs. Violet Bell of 124 1/2 South Belmont street between Isabel and Belmont streets.

Japs Again Play Ball After 10 Years

[By Associated Press]
TOKIO, Dec. 17.—The baseball teams of the Kelo and Waseda universities are to resume inter-university matches after an interval of ten years. The rivalry was so keen between these two seats of learning on the baseball field that free fights were too frequent to please the university authorities, who ordered the games to be abandoned. This restriction, however, has now been removed.

RELIEF CORPS BAZAAR WAS DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL RALLY

The bazaar held by the Women's Relief Corps in G. A. R. hall Saturday afternoon proved a delightful social rally and profitable to all patrons, because the stock offered was of unusual quality and prices very reasonable. Returns totaled about $50 and these will be augmented by the sale of articles left, including a nice lot of aprons, a handsome luncheon set and some fancy articles, which will be disposed of at the next regular meeting.

This organization has to be earning money for its treasury, not only to meet the demands for relief from veterans of the Civil war and their families and veterans of the World war, who are objects of solicitude to corps members, but also to provide a fund to meet the special assessments for street paving on Glendale avenue, upon which G. A. R. hall faces. Mrs. Flora Pixley is president of the corps and Mrs. Julia Hayes, secretary. For the next regular all-day meeting of Posts and Corps, which will be held Friday, December 28, a special holiday program is being prepared.

Truths in Epigram

There is no great genius free from some tincture of madness. — Seneca.

He is happiest, be he king or peasant, who finds peace in his home. — J. Von Goethe.

A broken friendship may be soldered, but will never again be sound. — Anon.

NATIONAL PRIDE AT STAKE

On the east coast large fleets of speed boats are engaged in bringing liquor into this country. Other boats of the class are being constructed as rapidly as possible. These boats are capable of going even through rough water at forty miles an hour. The capital backing the whole illicit enterprise is providing airships for the quicker distribution of the illegal cargo.

On the west coast conditions are about the same, save that operations are not so extensive. Foreign money in both places is endeavoring to defeat American law. Of course there is connivance, and equal guilt on the part of Americans. Some of them are engaged in the traffic. Some have lent financial backing, and countless among them are ready to be patrons of a trade carried on in defiance of the constitution.

The constant activity, and the insolence of these outlaws is an assault on the national pride. When the people of this country made prohibition a part of the fundamental law, they were sincere. They were not merely theorizing. They did not put the trade in alcoholic beverages under the ban merely to satisfy conscience, intending that the trade should be carried on as before. They meant specifically that the traffic should come to an end. It still flourishes. To outwit the officers of the law is considered a triumph by bootleggers and their customers. The continued flouting of the authorities is an insult to the government and to Americans as a people.

These considerations are apart from reference to the loathsome and deadly work of the petty pedler of liquor poison, who is a local problem. The big operators issue a challenge that is not to be ignored. They are developing a spirit as sinister as that animating the open advocate of anarchy.

AN ANOMOLOUS SITUATION

From Berlin comes the specific information that the government is at financial zero, or to put it briefly, "broke." It has been refused credit by its own industrialists and banks, and so is forced to look abroad for the favors withheld at home. The appeal for aid is based partly on sympathy. Never was there a situation more anomalous.

It may strike the alien judgment as singular that the world outside should be presumed to feel a keen sympathy for Germany in this predicament, when such sympathy is not forthcoming from individuals and groups themselves German. The industrialists of that country have become immensely wealthy. They have been shrewd and heartless, and it may not be said that their methods, morally considered, have been flawless. Swiftly and implacably they have taken possession of the wealth of the country, thriving upon its extremity, paying labor in a worthless, make-believe currency. They have real money at their command.

Nothing could be plainer than that there has been a violation of the whole law heretofore deemed to be immutable: "The whole is greater than any of its parts." Surely these industrialists cannot be regarded as separate from the social body that is Germany; or as having no relation to the government. They are part of the whole, and they are greater than the whole.

It is to the interest of the world that economic Germany be restored, to the end that it may function again in normal fashion. It should be of more pressing interest to such Germans as Stinnes. Are these men utterly selfish? Are they in no manner touched by the feeling known as patriotism? Is their pride dead, that unmoved they may witness the spectacle of their native land posing as a mendicant?

JUSTICE COX OF ORANGE

The court room of Justice Cox at Santa Ana is a place of terror to the speed maniac. The auto-intoxicated peril of the highway enters the room with sanity fully restored, and braces himself for the shock he knows to be coming. The dose is given in the form of fine and imprisonment, and the sentence is not "suspended." A sentence as formulated by Justice Cox is 100 per cent sincere. The way to avoid impact with it is to keep out of Orange county, or to play the accelerator lightly while passing through.

This severe and strictly fair official long ago won the reputation of meting out penalty regardless of the standing of the offender. Rich man, poor man, pretty girl in fetching gown, all looked alike to him. The effect was so salutary that the automobiling public seemed to have received its lesson. There was a notable slowing down as incoming machines crossed the county line. However, the good effects were temporary. As the court permitted gentler methods to be applied to the erring, the speeder regained his former insolence. He hurtled across Orange county in the manner of a thunderbolt. This exhibition stealed the heart of the court anew.

Violation of the speed law in Orange means again that the offending driver is going to jail. The value of the circumstances is three-fold. It protects the lives of dwellers within the area, over which Justice Cox holds jurisdiction; it serves as an admirable example to others of the bench; it proves that the new and supposedly toothless regulation, really can be made to bite.

THE SPIRIT OF OPPOSITION

Both the senators from Minnesota voted against confirmation of Frank B. Kellogg as ambassador to England. Mr. Kellogg also is from Minnesota. The natural tendency of senators representing that state would be to feel a certain satisfaction at observing so distinguished an honor going to their neighbor. The protest of the pair amounted to nothing more than a gesture of dissent. It was without effect save that it showed them to be under the spell of the spirit of opposition. They are "fornist" on general principles.

The thought occurs that the element of courtesy could not be out of place. Courtesy might even be employed to diplomatic ends. Here, for example, are two senators elected by votes of the Farmer-Labor party. Apparently they are of the material that readily enters into blocs. Instead of conceding a favor, when such a favor might be useful to themselves, they withhold it in a manner that suggests an unreasoning and obdurate stubbornness. They have demands to make, and if these be not satisfied, then at least they are going to have the pleasure of clogging all other business, of creating obstacles, and plotting that if that which they desire may not be accomplished, nothing shall be accomplished. Activity on such a level does not indicate a high grade of statesmanship.

Confirmation of an ambassador is hardly more than a matter of form. The right of the administration to sent abroad its spokesmen men known to be in sympathy with executive policies hardly is to be disputed. The only reason for voting against confirmation would be discovery of unfitness on the part of the nominee after the time that he had been chosen. Voting against confirmation must be construed generally as an expression of ill will, a course, sadly lacking in dignity.

There can be no denying that it is high time for France to make some intimation concerning its debt to the United States. It might, with courtesy, send word that it was too busy to take the matter up at present, or say that it preferred to spend its cash in some other way, or declare that it had no intention of squaring the account. Absolute silence touching a subject of such importance is not worthy the French standard of politeness.

The man who plants a ladder near knows what will come up.

"UNNATURAL HISTORY"

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

If celebrities wish to interview themselves in the columns of our press we should endure the ordeal with fortitude; but every so often one of them gives tongue to somewhat superlatively funny.

Here is the latest spasm, emanating from a big Russian who has VIEWS about what he will "allow" his wife to do and not to do.

Far be it from us to take up the cudgels in defense of the lady who married this warden; but when it comes to misrepresenting nature, it's a bit different.

In the old times we paid everything on the shoulders of the Lord. Now we haul in Dame Nature and make her the scape goat.

"Every law," announces this alien gentleman, "is derived from nature and no one can consistently deny that one of nature's foremost laws is that the male of the species be the provider and the female his dependent mate."

Wonder what nature will have to say about that? Personally we never were in Russia, but we have it on high authority that nature there functions pretty much as nature elsewhere; and here is the way she functions in these United States of America.

Among bees and ants the females do all the work, lay all the eggs and permit the males to hang around only on suifrance and until winter comes. When the cold arrives the females, poor "dependent" creatures, turn the males into the cold, cold world to starve, or else they sting them to death.

Who ever saw a mother bird sitting round waiting for the male to feed her? She and her mate together build the nest and feed the young. And young. The truth is that nature does not depend on the male for her means of livelihood. The function of the male throughout all the realms of nature is to strut and fight, protect the herd or the family from attack and look pretty—for the benefit of the females.

Fancy a peacock making the family living, or the barnyard gobbler or the sire of a pack of wolves. It is true that the male fox, inspired by a beautiful fatherly instinct almost starves himself in order to feed the brood; but he does not feed the mother. On the contrary she helps him feed the pups.

All of which shows that literary and artistic gentlemen from Russia know nothing about natural history, however much they may know that pleases them when it comes to their wives.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

We lighted down on old Hank Berry yesterday afternoon like a flock of vultures. The scheme was a good one. It had money in it at every angle. We needed Hank in it, because he had more money than we have.

"We're willing to gamble, if it," we shouted. "If we will take a chance with our little money, you ought to be willing to take one with yours. You have dollars where we haven't got potatoes."

"Tomorrow morning," said Hank, "I'll think about it. Not until then."

So he chased us out, and yelling, and closed his door. I ran across the old boy at a mother's meeting or something later that evening, and he had no more on his mind than has a snake. I tried to talk business to him and he just held up his hand and walked away.

"I'll think about it in the morning," said he, "and not until then."

This morning he yes-sed us. After we fixed up the papers I asked him and he told me. Experience has taught him, he says, that the only worth while thinking he ever does is in the morning. He is fresh then, and lively and energetic. His body has made up the fatigues of the day before, and, as no good thinking can ever be done by a brain that is housed in a body that is below par, he is at his best. A little later on he will have dulled his thinking power with tobacco, and perhaps mulched it under a load of food. His afternoons and evenings, he says, he devotes to gathering information. That is more or less automatic. But he does his real thinking in the morning hours.

A physician, a psychologist, and the trainer of a pugilist have told me since then that old Hank is right. Right after the good old oatmeal is the time for prodigious intellectual strides.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Let's start it with the rubbish man. Fairness and justice and understanding. So many of us want to be fair and just with the French and the Germans and the Italians and the Martians and the Jupiterians.

And we fail to be just and fair with the rubbish man.

The rubbish man has his place.

And if he sings at six in the morning while he is gathering the rubbish we should be grateful for the song.

And not angry that he waked us up out of season.

For it is an important thing that we be fair and just to the rubbish man.

And the ice man. He spills water on the floor often.

But it is better to spill water than it is for far off people to spill blood.

So let us not shut the ice man out of the pale.

Let us be just to him.

And merciful.

And there is the deliveryman. He fails to bring us our pennyworth of pepper sometimes.

But he is bound to make some mistakes.

Business is brisk.

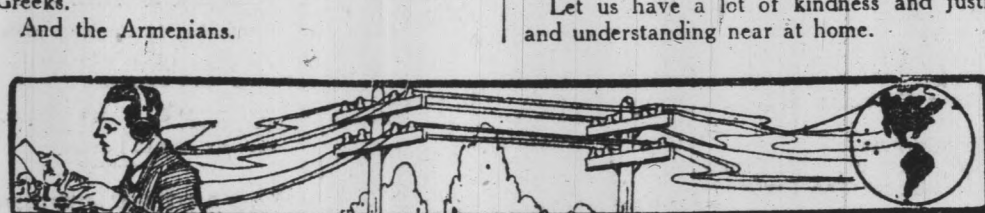

Many numbers, sound alike.

And he cannot escape error.

So we need not call up the shop and take him to task.

Let us exercise the same mercy we do to the Greeks.

And the Armenians.

Songs of the Poets

Uphill—By Christina Georgina Rossetti

Does the road wind uphill all the way?
Yes, to the very end.
Will the day's journey take the whole long day?
From morn to night, my friend.

But is there for the night a resting-place?
A roof for when the slow, dark hours begin.
May not the darkness hide it from my face?
You cannot miss that inn.

Shall I meet other wayfarers at night?
Those who have gone before.
Then must I knock, or call when just in sight?
They will not keep you waiting at that door.

Shall I find comfort, travel-sore and weak?
Of labour you shall find the sum.
Will there be beds for me and all who seek?
Yea, beds for all who come.

TWO IDEAS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE are two ideas that have been pestering me. One of them is how the world is but a reflection of our own spirit. The other is how much of our life is pure imitation.

We are very apt to judge the world by ourselves. For mankind is the great mirror in which the soul of the individual sees itself.

I am very shy of generalizations. When a man says everybody does so and so, everybody is like that, or everybody feels so, I suspect that he is talking about himself.

In fact there are as many worlds as there are people to look at the world. The sun is smiling, the tom-tits are merrily cheeping, the peacock is preening, and all Nature is joyous to the young fellow in love; while to the miserable man with a frown the landscape is but a collection of hearse-plumes.

"Facts are nothing," said Jean Moreau, "but the ideas they signify, the analogies they invoke, are everything."

If you are a decent kind of a person you can go through the world and find it a very decent kind of place.

"There is in all societies," says Alexander Dumas, "a certain proportion of honest folks. Thus, taking the two of us here, there is at least one honest man."

The other idea is that of imitation. Doubtless I am imitating somebody in all I do, but why find? In every thought I think I am possibly rehashing some thought I got from someone else.

Every word I use has been used before. "I have a book at home with every word of your sermon in it," said a man once to the preacher after the service. The parson hotly denied it. "Oh, yes," said the man, who was disposed to be funny; "it's in the dictionary."

When I smile, that is my grandfather, and when I scratch my chin, that is my great-grandfather. Doubtless I chew my food like any number of people—among them Mr. Fletcher, let us hope.

When I say this you are reminded of somebody, and when I say that it recalls what somebody else said.

If anyone had to do nothing but what is entirely original he would certainly die, for he could neither go to bed nor get up, eat or drink.

Let us be thankful if we each have a little flavor that is our own.

"It is imitating somebody to plant cabbages," said Alfred de Musset.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Chief of Police Vollmer of Los Angeles objects to red tape, of which there is enough to cause a pretty steady stream of objections.

"Operatic Stars Threaten Battle." Oh let 'em fight. There are precedents establishing their right to be temperamental.

Mexico's revolution seems to be the real thing, and yet shrewd sportsmen would place their money on Oregon.

Criminal court records show an increase of acquittals, which perhaps proves that police suspicions had been unjust.

Three experts have been called to Los Angeles to settle the problem of congestion. If they can work miracles, all right.

Mashing the mashers seems to be a popular police court sport. Spectators applaud freely.

"La Follette Utterance Welcomed in Russia." The Examiner. This does not commend it to American judgment.

Before getting the film studios San Francisco would have to pass an ordinance abolishing fog.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

TRUTH ABOUT RUSSIA?

[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

It would be interesting to know the present truth about Russia, which is a land of milk and honey according to one group of investigators and of fire and brimstone according to another. Common sense clings to a couple of facts. One is that the country is still run by the soviet. Another is that Russia is making material progress in spite of the soviet. The National Civic Federation wants Americans who have been led around by the hand through Russia to refrain from fulsome laudation of their wily hosts. If these homecoming apostles tell the whole truth, it will profit the soviet nothing. The truth is that Russia is waking up. When she gets fully awake, the soviet will no longer be a problem.

MR. MELLON'S PLAN

[Washington Post]

Beyond question Mr. Coolidge will recommend the Mellon plan. It will then have the support of the nation's leader and the republican party's leader. Will the republicans of congress stultify themselves by blocking the party's plan for bringing the country back from profligacy to thrift and prosperity? Will they try to undo the great work done by Harding and which Coolidge desires to carry forward? If so, they need not take the trouble to hold a national convention next year. The people will relieve them of the responsibility of conducting the government. As for the democrats in congress, they will oppose tax relief at their peril. Politicians and demagogues, you had better get right on this taxation question.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

In a recent number of the Saturday Evening Post was a cartoon that in the manner of a glove without a wrinkle, fitted many an urban community. Just now, owing to the unusual roar of the reformer, male, female and unclassified, it might seem to have been intended particularly for Los Angeles. The fact is that as to ado about nothing, and lack of ado concerning things worth while, one city is about as good or as bad as another.

The cartoon portrays a platform crowded with the backers of a fervid orator who is whaling the air with fine gestures, as he denounces whatever social phases are distasteful to him. Close by are thugs engaged in robbery, kidnaping and assault. The idea of the cartoon is that while public energy is engaged upon piffle, the clamor diverts police energy from pursuit of real criminals. And isn't it the truth?

There are people, doubtless of good intention, but intellectually greatly lacking in equipment, who have wrought themselves into a moral frenzy over the circumstance that other people, if not restrained by force, actually would dance on occasions after the striking of the midnight hour. To circumvent such iniquity the police have been called from their beats, to the delight of nocturnal prowlers and the increase of deeds of violence.

The professional reformer has no sense of relative values. He desires to regulate the spiritual and physical trend of his neighbors. This seems to him to be an important mission. He never conceives it to be a piece of impertinence and futility.

San Francisco, with a courtesy that does it credit, is inviting the moving picture industry to pull stakes and locate in the bay region. Doubtless the courtesy will be appreciated, and there will be the end of the matter.

Climatic conditions and scenic environment were the primary reasons for the establishing of the business here, but since then the industry has become deep rooted in the soil. Many of the producers and stars have purchased the soil. Here their money is invested, and this is their home.

A burglar, caught in the act and confessing, since defense would have been useless, has asked the court for probation. The court has been made aware that on previous occasions the prisoner had been convicted of burglary, and had served terms of imprisonment. Nobody assumes the right to dictate to a court. It may be fair to remark, however, that if this defendant is entitled to probation, the practice of arresting and trying burglars might as well be abandoned as a waste of time and money.

The masher is the chap, young or old, who seeks to scrape up acquaintances with the passing representatives of femininity. Sometime he is successful. More often he fails so utterly that a wholly unsympathetic policeman removes him. In the police court the masher "gets what was coming to him," a stiff jail sentence. Mashers are just as obnoxious to the normal male as to the women they annoy. They are felt to be a reflection on a partly worthy sex.

Camille Flammarion, foremost astronomer of France, perhaps, predicts the establishment of telepathic communication between the earth and Mars. The impressiveness of the prophesy loses somewhat from the known tendency of the astronomer to stray from the field of the stars into the field of romance. He so combines the findings of a highly scientific mind with the output of an imagination rich as that of a Jules Verne, that the reader finds it impossible to discern the line of demarcation between fact and fancy.

There is no certainty of life on Mars. Admitting that life exists there, it may be so utterly different from life on this globe that even if means of communication were available, there could be no assurance of intellectual contact. Moreover, before reaching the Martians by telepathy, it might be well to establish this between mortals on a common plane.

Considering the hundreds of trees that were blown down in the recent remarkable wind, there is much to be grateful for. In the first place, few of them fell where they caused any harm. Escapes from disaster in this respect were little less than miraculous. The scars left by the vanishing of the trees will not long be noticeable. Some of the trees were about ripe for the axe anyhow. And it is worth while remembering that a lot of folk to whom the question of fuel is important, got a year's supply just for the trouble of hauling it away.

A check for $609,961.32 was recently received by the Interior Department from the Salt River Valley Users' association. Thus the great reclamation projects backed by the government begin to pay for themselves.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

"Thomas, it's time to pick up. Put your rabbit on the window seat and pick up all the paper and put it in the basket. I'll take your scissors."

Thomas picked up the rabbit by one ear and took a tentative shot at the window seat. The rabbit rebounded and fell under the table. He picked up three or four big pieces of paper and two of them got into the basket. The others went on the waiting list. The scissors lay open-mouthed and sprawling where he had dropped them when he rose to clean up.

"My goodness. Children are the messiest things. Can't get them to pick up after themselves. They're as bad as the men about the house," sighed mother as she stooped to gather up the rabbit, the paper and the scissors. Thomas had curled up on the couch to wait for father.

Which made me conscious again of the weakness of many sort of training that does not make for accuracy. When a child is given a job he should be held to that standard of accuracy that is within his power to reach; or he should be given the job and taught that a shot in the general direction of it is about all that is required of him.

Why couldn't Thomas place that rabbit squarely on the window seat? Why couldn't he put those papers in the basket and not beside it? Why didn't he clean up the little scraps and put his scissors in their place? He could do every one of those jobs and enjoy doing them, but his mother let him off without the effort and he, like the rest of the human family, didn't do any more than the law required of him in the way of mental exertion. He has to be checked up and held to the job even when he is little. That's when he gets his training, not after he is of school age and set in the way of the lazy.

Mothers think that keeping after a small boy to see that he actually does what he is asked to do as well as he can do it is nagging the poor little thing and shaming the grown-up that does it. That's not true. No child is so unhappy as the one that is not held to account for the things within its capacity. No mother is so ashamed as the one who neglects to take the trouble to train her small boy in the accuracy of every day doing. The boy will become the nagger and the mother the shamed one in due time.

In school we have to cope with the six-year-old who has never been taught to do a thing accurately in his life. On the contrary he has been allowed to gather the idea that he needn't do it really, but that some one else will come along and make good for him.

The primary schools are full of children who learn four tables out of seven and think that's enough; the intermediate schools are full of those who read over a lesson and get a vague notion that George Washington was a great man and that's all about that; the high schools are full of those who manage to get the bare passing mark and lift their brows in amazement at your protest. They've passed. What more can you want?

It is they who give us wrong telephone numbers, put the wrong letters in the envelopes, leave out the enclosures, forget that the big man called on the telephone and left a message; forget what he said anyway.

We've got to make these children more accurate at home and in school whatever else we do. Just a little bit accurate at first, and then Just Right.

Modern Version of New Testament

By EDGAR J. GOODSPEED

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE

"Who is this man who talks blasphemy? Who can forgive sins but God alone?"

But Jesus saw what they were discussing, and said to them,

"What are you pondering over in your minds? Which is easier, to say, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Get up and walk'? But to let you know that the Son of Man has authority to forgive sins on earth"—turning to the man who was paralyzed he said to him—"I tell you, get up, pick up your mat, and go home!"

And he got up at once before them all, and picked up what he had been lying on, and went home, praising God. They were all seized with astonishment, and praised God, and filled with awe they said,

"We have seen something wonderful today!"

After this he went out, and he saw a tax-collector named Levi sitting at the tollhouse, and he said to him,

Follow me!"

And he left everything and got up and followed him. Then Levi gave a great entertainment for him in his house, and there was a great throng of tax-collectors and others who were at table with them. And the Pharisees and their scribes grumbled about it to his disciples, and said,

"Why do you eat and drink with tax-collectors and irreligious people?"

Jesus answered them,

"It is not well people but the sick who have to have the doctor. I have not come to invite the pious but the irreligious to repentance!"

They said to him,

"John's disciples observe frequent fasts and offer prayers, and so do the disciples of the Pharisees, but your disciples eat and drink."

Jesus said to them,

"Can you make wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them? But other days will come, and when the bridegroom is taken away from them, in those days they will fast."

He used this figure also in speaking to them:

"No one tears a piece from a new coat and sews it on an old one, or if he does, he will both tear the new one and the piece from the new one will not match the old one. And nobody puts new wine into old wine-skins, or if he does, the new wine will burst the skins and run out, and the skins will be spoiled. New wine has to be put into fresh skins. No one after drinking old wine wants new, for he says, 'The old is better!'"

One Sabbath he happened to be passing through the wheat fields, and his disciples were picking the heads of wheat, and eating them, rubbing them in their hands. And some of the Pharisees said,

"Why do you do what it is against the Law to do on the Sabbath?"

Jesus answered,

"Have you not read even what David did, when he and his companions were hungry? How he went into the house of God and took the Presentation Loaves, which it was against the Law for anyone but the priests to eat, and ate them with his companions?" And he said to them, "The Son of Man is master of the Sabbath."

On another Sabbath he happened to go to the synagogue and teach. There was a man there whose right hand was withered. And the scribes and the Pharisees were on the watch to see whether he would cure people on the Sabbath, in order to find a charge to bring against him. But he knew what they were thinking, and he said to the man with the withered hand,

"Get up and stand in front."

And he got up and stood there. Jesus said to them, "I want to ask you, is it allowable on the Sabbath to do people good or to do them harm? to save life or to destroy it?"

And he looked around at them all and said to the man, "Hold out your hand!"

And he did so, and his hand was restored.

But they were perfectly furious, and discussed with one another what they could do to Jesus.

It was in those days that he went up on the mountain to pray, and passed the whole night in prayer to God. When day came, he called his disciples to him, and chose twelve of them whom he named apostles: Simon, whom he named Peter, his brother Andrew, James, John, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James, the son of Alphaeus, Simon, who was called the Zealot, Judas, the son of James, and Judas Iscariot, who turned out a traitor. And he came down with them and took his stand on a level place with a great throng of his disciples, and a large number of people from all over Judea and from Jerusalem and the seacoast district of Tyre and Sidon, who had come to hear him and to be cured of their diseases. And those who were troubled with foul spirits were cured. And all the people tried to touch him, because power went forth from him and cured them all. Then he fixed his eyes on his disciples, and said,

"Blessed are you who are poor, for the Kingdom of God is yours!"

"Blessed are you who are hungry now, for you will be satisfied!"

"Blessed are you who weep now, for you will laugh!"

"Blessed are you when people hate you and exclude you and denounce you and spurn the name you bear as evil, on account of the Son of Man. Be glad when that happens, and leap for joy, for you will be richly rewarded in heaven, for that is the way their forefathers treated the prophets."

"But alas for you who are rich, for you have had your comfort!"

"Alas for you who have plenty to eat now, for you will be hungry!"

"Alas for you who laugh now, for you will mourn and weep!"

"Alas for you when everyone speaks well of you, for that is the way their forefathers treated the false prophets!"

"But I tell you who hear me, love your enemies, treat those who hate you well, bless those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you. To the man that strikes you on the cheek, offer the other also, and from the man who takes away your coat, do not keep back your shirt either. Give to everyone that asks of you, and if anyone takes away what is yours, do not demand it back. And treat men just as you wish them to treat you. If you love only those who love you, what merit is there in that? For even godless people love those who love them. And if you help only those who help you, what merit is there in that? Even godless people act in that way. And if you lend only to people from whom you expect to get something, what merit is there in that? Even godless people lend to godless people, meaning to get it back again in full. But love your enemies, and help them and lend to them, never despairing, and you will be richly rewarded, and you will be sons of the Most High, for he is kind even to the ungrateful and the wicked. You must be merciful just as your Father is. Do not judge others, and they will not judge you. Do not condemn them, and they will not condemn you. Excuse others and they will excuse you. Give, and they will give to you; good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over, they will pour into your lap. For the measure you use with others they in turn will use with you."

BROOKS TALKS ON CHAPTERS 4 AND 5, BOOK OF GENESIS

The time-worn query, Where did Cain get his wife? came up in the Presbyterian Brotherhood Bible class Sunday, when Keith L. Brooks, the teacher, tackled the 4th chapter of Genesis. "No married woman who ever lived has had the distinction of having so many men interested in her as Cain's wife," said Mr. Brooks. "Often when a Christian approaches a man of the world and asks if all is well with his soul, he is greeted with the counter question, 'Tell me first, where did Cain get his wife?'"

God told Eve that He would greatly multiply her conception. By the time Cain took his leave of the family, Eve no doubt already had numerous offspring. The marriage of brothers and sisters was inevitable in the case of the children of the first man if the race was to descend from a single pair. The text assumes that Cain's wife accompanied him in his exile. It does not say that Cain got his wife in the land of Nod, but that he knew her there and she brought forth a son.

The natural result of Cain's false worship was that he should get out of the presence of the Lord and lose himself in the world and its pursuits. Cain's line brought forth the world's decorators. They set about making the world a more comfortable place to live in and they are spoken of as the inventors of arts and sciences while at the same time they served the lusts of the flesh. It is a sad fact today, just as in Cain's time, that the faster civilization advances the more godless it becomes. The unregenerate man invents ways to sin and avoid the consequences, having lost sight of all the profound truths revealed by God.

The 5th chapter gives us the principal generations of Adam and we note that early man had a much longer span of life than men now have. Out of the nine whose ages are recorded here, the lowest is 895 years, while one reaches 969. Critics tell us that such longevity is impossible and that not individuals but tribes are meant. It is not logical, however, that early man should live long. It took time for the ground to develop the effect of the curse. There were superior climatic conditions and man's perfect physical condition in Eden was not immediately exhausted. If the world was to be peopled from a single pair, immense duration of the lives of primeval generations was necessary. The population went on as rapidly as if God had placed many pairs on earth. Furthermore, it was necessary to the worship of God in the earth since there was no revelation. Adam was alive to tell the story of Eden and the fall and to repeat the promise he had heard from God until the very eve of the deluge.

The great longevity accounts for the great progress in mechanical arts of which we read in these chapters. On the other hand, long life lent itself to evil purposes and the rare occurrence of death encouraged men in evil ways and fostered the progress of corruption. It is no wonder that the whole earth had to be soon judged by a flood. Adam witnessed the beginnings of this universal corruption and in his declining years, as he saw the progress of sin, he must have realized the enormity of his fall and the justice of the sentence pronounced.

"HIDDEN WISDOM" SUBJECT OF REV. ARTHUR MOORE

Rev. Arthur A. Moore of the Occult Science of Christ church, 113 South Orange street, took "The Hidden Wisdom" as the subject of his sermon last evening. Rev. Moore, basing his remarks on 2 Timothy, 1:7, and 1 Corinthians, 2:3-16, said in part:

"The highest conception of man's inheritance is freedom from fear. Master minds have throughout the ages prepared the way for the many who required symbols, rituals, rites and illustrative ceremonies in their attempts to know the hidden things of life. The hidden mystery of life is not that which receives expression in our circumscribed personal lives, but rather it is that which lies within, to receive expression; manifestation, as we grow in strength and realization. There is nothing hidden to the mind that is determined to understand realities.

"Symbols are but keys to open the door of vibration and prove one's ability to master the working of the mind. The wisdom that all material things have a place in the great scheme or plan of God, for God has such a scheme, encourages the seeker to build constructive thought pictures, and to gain mastery over his material environment. The path of attainment is well lighted when the seeker for truth can still his mind, set aside the things of this, our visible world, and meditate on the true nature of things in relation to man."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Reorganization plans for the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad involving the issue of securities of the approximate par value of $132,000,000 were approved last week by the interstate commerce commission.

REV. KRINGEL TALKS OF JESUS' ENTRY INTO JERUSALEM

Rev. Henry O. Kringel of the Zion Lutheran congregation selected for his sermon topic "Jesus Enters Jerusalem," taken from Matthew 21:1-8, last Sunday. A good audience was present. The speaker said in part:

"About three hundred years before the event occurred which is recorded in our Gospel—Christ entering the city of Jerusalem—there was an occurrence of a similar nature at the gates of that city. A great king, in command of a formidable army and surrounded with military splendor, halted his fiery steed before the walls and demanded of the sentinels that were stationed in the towers an unconditional surrender. There was consultation among the inhabitants. While the king was making preparations to besiege the city, the Jews, the high priest hurriedly called together the priests and quickly escorted them to the gate where the king was issuing his order for the assault. The gate was opened and the king entered. That king was Alexander the Great.

"What a difference between that great monarch coming to the holy city in military attire, followed by grim warriors, and Jesus, coming, meek and lowly, surrounded by the joyful throng of his followers, shouting as they moved along, 'Hosanna to the Son of David: Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest!'"

Not a welcome guest was Alexander the Great, though it is said that he treated the Jews kindly and even condescended to offer sacrifice in the temple according to their rites. The Jews had just cause to fear the Macedonian king who on his conquering tour to the east laid waste the land, burned the cities, and either slew or took captive and sold as slaves all who dared to oppose him. But what cause did the Jews have to fear Jesus, in whom the prophecy of Zechariah was being fulfilled, 'Tell ye the daughter of Zion, behold, thy king cometh unto thee.' Gladly could all the inhabitants of Jerusalem welcome that king in their midst.

And now, my hearers, that King comes to this day. He comes invisibly in His word and in His holy sacraments. Every land, every city, every hamlet, every home where the gospel of Christ has found a place, is Jerusalem; and there is the daughter of Zion, and the promise given to her is being fulfilled: 'Behold, thy King cometh unto thee.'

"What manner of king cometh unto us? Oh, what comfort for us to know that our King cometh unto us, Jesus, who came unto Jerusalem. He has not forsaken us. Though He does withhold us His visible presence, yet He is with us invisibly and enters our homes and our hearts! What comfort for us to know that our King does visit us on this earth! Our King of kings is the Lord of lords. He is more than Alexander the Great and all the powerful rulers of the earth. He is our omniscient and almighty King who can accomplish all He desires and with whom nothing is impossible; He is a meek King whose heart is full of kindness and tender mercies.

"And what is the true purpose of His coming unto us? His purpose is not merely to take away from us our sorrows, as the omniscient and almighty King. No, His purpose is to substitute joy for sorrow, to fill our hearts with gladness, to make us rejoice over our salvation, which we have received through faith in Christ Jesus. At that time He came to Jerusalem to die for the sins of the world. Only a few days later He was taken before the tribunal of Pontius Pilate, condemned to death, nailed to the cross, and for three days His lifeless corpse remained in the tomb and was then raised from the dead. He paid the penalty for our sins and the ransom price for the souls of all believers. He performed the great work of the redemption, worked out the forgiveness of sins and gained for each and every believer in Christ eternal life.

"Wherever His pure word is, there is Christ Himself; and the purpose of His coming to us is always to bring joy and happiness to our hearts and to fill the believer's soul with the hope of eternal life."

USE COMMON SENSE IN MAKING OUT TAX RETURNS

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell today called attention to the careless manner in which many taxpayers make their sales tax returns, thereby causing delay in payment of their tax, and in some cases in the credit being given to some other person who has signed the form as a witness to signatures.

"A little ordinary common business caution," said Collector Goodcell, "should convince anyone that this office can credit payment only to the name of the person appearing on the return form, and if he is careless enough to have a witness sign where his own name should be, the witness, and not the taxpayer, will get credit for the tax paid."

"Instructions are printed on the back of each sales tax form, which, if read and followed, will enable any person who can read at all to make an intelligible and proper return. Space is provided for the jurat or for witnesses, and their acknowledgements must be in that space."

"There is a great deal of illegible writing in this world," continued Collector Goodcell, "and as sales tax forms are usually first sent out on written application therefore it is not remarkable that some of them have the names misspelled, on account of the clerk's being unable to decipher the applicant's name."

The taxpayer is urged to make all necessary corrections in the name and address on his forms, in order that he may receive proper credit for the tax. There are penalties for making improper returns which can be avoided by co-operation by the taxpayer.

A deputation visited a jeweler's shop. "We want to buy a solid silver coffee pot for presentation to our member of congress," said the spokesman.

"In that case, sir," suggested the jeweler, "you will want something with a long spout."

Mr. Advertiser: Get in the PRESS for Business

IF YOU AREN'T INTERESTED IN WHAT THE PAPER IS—FIND OUT WHAT IT DOES—LEARN THE REAL REASONS FOR ITS HAVING THE LARGEST CIRCULATION—

THE more business you go after, the larger your business grows. The vital force in business today is advertising—advertising that is so simple that it is easily understood; advertising that is so strong that it leaves an indelible impression upon your readers' mind; advertising that is so convincing that it gives the reader the impulse to buy.

In advertising, today, the greater number of people you reach, the more telling effect your advertising has, and, consequently, the more merchandise you sell.

To reach a certain number of readers, you must pay a certain fixed sum, and a few cents more buys more than 50% more readers.

When your advertisement appears in the Glendale Daily Press, you are guaranteed that it reaches more than 7000 readers. See affidavit. Guaranteed circulation statement made MUST BE TRUE.

Circulation Statement of the Glendale Daily Press

I, Dwight K. Mitchell, Circulation Manager of the Glendale Daily Press, do hereby swear and affirm the net paid circulation of the Glendale Daily Press to be Seventy-one hundred and ten (7110) this 1st day of November, 1923.

Dwight K. Mitchell.
Subscribed and sworn to before me, Harriet J. Thompson, a Notary Public in and for Los Angeles County, California, this 1st day of November, 1923.
(Seal) Harriet J. Thompson, Notary Public.
My commission expires Feb. 6, 1927.

When you buy advertising, you buy circulation. Genuine circulation is built by a sound editorial policy. And a sound editorial policy means that you, the advertiser, are reaching a mass of vitally interested people who, while not always agreeing with the editorials, understand that the paper is working for the people—otherwise, they would not take that paper.

The greatest part of your customers goes nightly to the Press for a comprehensive study of local conditions. To reach them, you must use their paper; and that is what the Press is for—the people.

Phone today for the Press Representative. Ask him about the service rendered to advertisers—about advertising successes made by the Press—and how the Press can help you.

SPORT
GRAMS

By FRANCIS W. READ

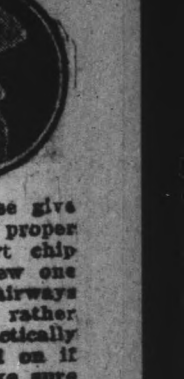

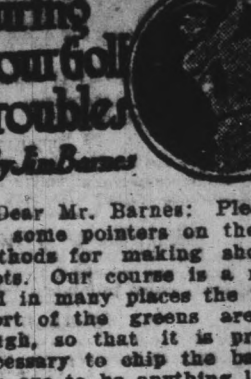

Football is not yet closed for 1923 in Southern California. Two big games are still on tap before the curtain goes down on the most successful year in the history of western football. On Christmas Day the Haskell Indians, a team that has shown remarkable power all season, will meet the tough Olympic club aggregation from San Francisco in the Los Angeles Coliseum. The game will be played under the auspices of the Community Development association, and promises to be a corker. This is the first time Southern California fans have had a chance to see the Olympics in action this season. The last time they played in these parts was when they took on the Multnomah club team of Portland in Pasadena last year.

On New Year's Day at Pasadena will be played the annual Tournament of Roses classic. The University of Washington eleven, runner up of the Pacific Coast conference, will take on the United States Naval Academy. The Washington Huskies devoured everything in sight this season except the California Bears and gave the Bruins a hard scrap. They secured the game because California declined to play. The Sailors are a real football aggregation. They did not win every game, but look good nevertheless. They lost to Penn State and tied the Army. This will be the first time fans in the western part of the United States have ever had a chance to see the Annapolis Middles play football.

The Rose Bowl game should undoubtedly be a hot struggle. The teams are evenly matched, neither having had a clean sweep. It is said that they are both second rate teams, neither having taken the championship of the section it represents. In a sense this is so, but they should put up a real exhibition of football anyway. They play real clean-cut football and should give local fans a good gridiron game.

This time both teams will be on a par as far as the climate goes. The Huskies are having terrific rains up their way about this time, and are working out on fields deep in mud. The Middles are having the usual eastern December weather. When the two teams reach sunny Southern California the last week in 1923 they will be equally affected by the change in climatic conditions. It will not be as it has been for some years past when the eastern team has been the only one of the two to be thus affected. Yes, the New Year's game should be good from every standpoint.

Very new and charming are girdles of suede that are finished with a large rosette of the same. The girdles come in many colors.

CASEYS PLAY TIE
GAME, DARKNESS
HALTS THE TILT

After playing nine innings of classy baseball, the Glendale Knights of Columbus and the Post Eight American Legion team remained deadlocked in a 3 to 3 tie, and were unable to play it off, for, as the post once remarked, "the shades of night were falling fast." In other words, darkness halted the game.

The Post Eight team scored first, putting over two markers in the second inning. The Caseys tied with one in the third and another in the fifth, and then grabbed the lead with another tally in the sixth. In the ninth the Post Eight team came across with one run, making the score a 3 to 3 tie. Both pitchers, Roberts of Post Eight and Powers of the Caseys showed class on the mound. Fruhling played good ball for the Glendale Caseys on third base, while Vejar, Ross and Rodax did the heavy work for the opposition. The score:

BAKERSFIELD WINNER
OVER LONG BEACH

Long Beach High school was eliminated from the race for the state high school championship Saturday when the powerful Bakersfield eleven took the Jackrabbits into camp by a 20 to 0 score on the Bakersfield gridiron.

It was one terrible slaughter all the way through, and when the Beach city boys got through they looked like a terrible mess. For one full hour they were outplayed by the Drillers. They made one first down as against fourteen by the Bakersfield crew. The spirit and fight that Long Beach showed when they played Glendale last week was gone. Hill, Drury and the rest of them looked sick, and Evans was the only Beacher that looked alive.

First Caldwell, then Cummings and then Harris would carry the ball and once they had scored there was no stopping them. Chief factor in the Bakersfield offensive, other than the backs carrying the ball, was young Mr. Robeski, labeled a tackle, who dashed out of the line of scrimmage like a runaway locomotive and bowled over half a dozen Long Beach men on every play. Dutch Hansen was simply wonderful on defense, while Drury of Long Beach was a total loss and no insurance.

Twice the Drillers walked down close enough to give Caldwell an opportunity to exercise his much press-agented toe, but on each occasion the heretofore unerring brogan missed fire to the evident disgust of its proprietor. In which the Bakersfield rooters heartily joined. The whole second quarter was featured by the large bags of yards made by the Drillers backs with no results as far as points were concerned.

WHITE SOX DROP
GAME TO TOOL
BASEBALL TEAM

Mike Donlin's Glendale White Sox dropped still lower in the Triple A league standings yesterday as a result of their 6 to 4 defeat at the hands of the Union Tool baseballers at the Glendale ball park. A ninth inning rally on the part of the toolmakers, bringing in four runs, was responsible for their victory.

The toolmakers made the first score, bringing one run in the second inning. The White Sox came back with two markers in their half of the same frame. Glendale scored in the fourth and again in the fifth, and rested on their laurels with a 4 to 1 lead. In the sixth the Union Tools came back with one lone marker, making their score two. The White Sox holding a two-run lead. Neither team scored in the seventh or eighth, but in the ninth the Toolmakers opened up with a nice little rally that took the White Sox right off their feet, netted four runs and annexed the ball game by a 5 to 4 score.

Harold Gallard, on the mound for the White Sox, was master of the situation until his team makes got careless in the final frame, which accounted largely for the visitors' rally. The score:

LICK GRABS THE
NORTHERN TITLE
BY BEATING LODI

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—Lick-Wilmerding High school of San Francisco, won the football championship of Northern California, and the right to meet Bakersfield High for the California Interscholastic Federation title by defeating Lodi High 10 to 7 here Saturday afternoon while a crowd of 15,000 persons looked on.

Lick snatched the lead and was on the top side of a 7 to 0 count when the third period opened. Then the valley athletes advanced the ball 47 yards to Lick's 2-yard line and Perrin bucked it over for a touchdown, which was converted for the extra point.

By this victory Lick earned the right to play Bakersfield for the state championship. The Triple A Division, Wilmington, San Pedro's neighboring rival, is tied with Jack Burns' aggregation for first place in the big winter circuit, each club having won four games and lost one.

Wilmington's two big innings, the fifth and the ninth, were the factors in their 7 to 3 triumph over Sawtelle in a Triple A League game at Lary Arnold's ball park yesterday. The victory pushed Sawtelle out of first place and put the visitors in a tie with San Pedro for the league leadership.

CUB BASKETBALLERS ARE OUT FOR THE TITLE

In spite of the rumors running rife that the Southern Branch basketball team is not the equal of the championship aggregation of the past three years, the Cubs have shown some real class in their early workouts. With three vets back and a bunch of green material out Coach Caddy Works is hard at work to produce the fourth successive championship team for the Vermont avenue institution.

The three varsity men who are back are Goertz, center; Johns, forward; and Breesee, guard. Horace Breesee is considered the star man of the team, his court work being of all-conference caliber and his basket eye being well trained and keen. Works expects a big year from this former Los Angeles high star, and if natural ability means a thing the branch coach will not be disappointed. Goertz, who graduated from Glendale high school, is hailed as the most accurate basket shooter on the squad. Johns also is a product of Glendale high.

That forms the nucleus of this year's varsity. Gibbs, the star member of the 1923 aggregation, has graduated. Beeson, captain-elect, transferred to the main university at Berkeley. Koppenger did not return to school. Eaton left school. Russell went to Berkeley. These men must be replaced.

Manager Joe Guion has lined up several practice tilts for the vacation workouts and they should be a big aid to the coach in selecting his team.

The Cubs are scheduled to meet Los Angeles high school on Tuesday, December 18. This will be a double-header, both first and second teams taking part. The following Friday they will clash with the Polytechnic high school squad and the next Wednesday will see them playing the Huntington Park high school five. The other and final game scheduled is with Hollywood high. The first three tilts will take place here, while the Hollywood clash will be at the Hollywood gym.

The squad has not yet been selected, and because of the fact that the majority of the players are still inexperienced it is not

BOXING TO OPEN
SOON AT BRANCH

Although at present in a state of hibernation, boxing is expected to come under the calcium at Southern Branch, U. C., about January 15, when Jimmie Cline, mit instructor par excellence, takes the reins.

Capt. Bob Feeney reports that while his men are not in active training they have not entirely forgotten the art of give and take. Jeff Brown and Leon Whitaker among the lighter men are around every now and then for a workout. Hopes for a strong team are somewhat strengthened with the report that a couple of the heavier gentlemen, namely Ross Bowen and Phil Haddox have signified their intention of doing the gloves. Joe Daney looks mighty nice in action too.

The boxing squad from Berkeley which makes the trip south this season to take on the Branch fighters, has many veterans on its list and Jimmie Cline's men will have to step to make any impression on their countenances.

likely that anything will be done toward selecting the regular squad until after the vacation. According to Coach Works, all of the men now have an even chance of making the team.

Morris Parker, who showed up so well on the varsity football team during the gridiron season as regular quarterback, has just come out for the basketball team and he looks like a winner. Morris played a whale of a football game and if he shows the same kind of fight in the hoop sport he should be a hard man to stop.

Another man who should make a high-class guard is Loran Peak, also of football fame. The big fullback shows lots of class on the basketball floor and with a little more experience may be as valuable a casaba man as a moleskin warrior.

Dear Mr. Barnes: Please give me some pointers on the proper methods for making short chip shots. Our course is a new one and in many places the fairways short of the greens are rather rough, so that it is practically necessary to chip the ball on if you are to be anything like sure of the direction it will travel. My trouble is in getting the ball up on these shots, as I frequently hit top it.

I have no doubt that your chief trouble is a violation of the time-old advice to keep your head down and watch the ball until it is hit. This is a very common fault on these short strokes. The swing is short and the player, knowing this, frequently hurries in playing the strokes, and this hurry causes him to hit his head too soon.

The main things to be considered are to keep the backswing short, take the club back smoothly, slowly if necessary, and if generally is necessary, and keep your eye and attention on hitting the ball until the clubhead strikes it. Also to insure getting the ball up, take the clubhead back low along the turf, then hit through after the ball. You want to avoid any lifting or scooping motion with the wrists as the clubhead gets to the ball. If you keep the clubhead low on the backswing and hit through after the ball, the left of the club will make the ball go up all right.

There is one other point. On these strokes very little if any pivoting is needed, in fact, very little body action of any kind. The stroke is played largely with the arms. So make a point of keeping the body steady, and of course the head likewise.

After not having met for a very long time two friends ran across one another in the street one day. One of them noticed that the other's nose and complexion had taken on a decidedly ruddy hue, and he began reprovingly, "Ah, John, I doot."

But John indignantly protested, informing the other that he should not judge by appearances, as he only took one glass a day.

"Ah, well," was the reply, "ver face, perhaps, is like our gas meter—it registers more than it consumes."

Never leave foodstuffs, of any kind in cardboard boxes, as they will not only gather moisture, but will attract insects.

MESTAYER THE STAR IN FILM AT T. D. & L. THEATRE

From the legitimate stage, and from famous productions of Frohman and Belasco into the pictures is the leap taken by Harry Mestayer, one of the best known character actors of the stage, in "The Acquittal," Universal's all-star Jewel presentation based on Rita Weiman's noted Broadway play, coming again to the T. D. and L. theater tomorrow. Mestayer plays the district attorney in the sensational court scene that launches one of the most gripping mysteries ever depicted on the screen.

Norman Kerry plays the principal male role, opposite Claire Windsor. Barbara Bedford has the "heavy" role among the women in the story. Hayden Stevenson, Richard Travers, Charles Wellesley, Frederick Vroom, Ben Deely, Emmett King, Dot Farley and Anton Vaverka are others in the great cast.

Clarence L. Brown, director of several recent successes, directed the picture, utilizing the services of Charles Furburgh, formerly a deputy district attorney of Chicago, who perfected every aspect of law, and accurate court room atmosphere, as well as an aid for Mestayer.

CLAIRE DU BREY PLAYS SCREEN VAMP IN "PONJOLA"

Claire Du Brey, popular screen "vamp," is a member of the cast of "Ponjola," again today at the Gateway theater.

Miss Du Brey, whose mission—so far as the movies are concerned—is to lure unsuspecting husbands from their wives, plays such a part in this absorbing story of the African gold fields.

Miss Du Brey enacts the part of "Lochia Luft," a frivolous man-chasing female, who picks a tartar in "Desmond," a "young man" who goes into the gold territory seeking oblivion but who in reality is an English noblewoman. This part is played by Anna Q. Nilsson.

"Ponjola," which is a picturization of Synthia Stockley's popular novel, is interpreted to the screen by a most unusually talented cast, including James Kirkwood, Anna Q. Nilsson, Tully Marshall, Ruth Clifford, Joseph Kilgour, Claire McDowell and Bernard Randall.

BABY IN LEADING ROLE TODAY AT THE GLENDALE

An important member of the cast in the screen version of "Six Cylinders Love," which William Fox will present at the Glendale theater again today, is Alvin Gehrken, Jr. He has been given the exacting role of the one-year-old son and heir of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson, overlords of the flat building that house the Gilbert Sterlings, the leading characters of the William Anthony McGuire comedy, portrayed by Ernest Truex and Florence Eldridge.

Young Gehrken is no inexperienced person to whom posing for the admiration of the crowd is unknown. He won his spurs at facing crowds—if such a mixed figure of speech may be permitted—and wears his medals with ease and distinction.

In physical development, comeliness of feature, disposition and mentality he has been voted the winning kid in contests that had hundreds of entrants.

A MEMORY

A little boy smiles from my wall, and smiles and looks at me,
A very little boy he is, as you can plainly see;
He is an old, old friend of mine, and I have known him long,
And I remember when we romped with laughter and with song
He had a worn and torn straw hat, his heart held many a rhyme
Of boyhood lore, and his brown feet were bare in summer time.
He looks at me and smiles that golden smile that used to be,
And I can hear him as he says: "Don't you remember me?"

And then the olden days come back, and I can see him there,
That old straw hat upon his head, and his brown feet and bare,
I hear him whistle, call and cry, and down the path there comes
With shrilly echoing reply the rarest of his chums.
I see them going forth to where the fish are fat and prime,
The gladdest youngsters in the world, in golden summertime.
And then somewhere upon a stone, a bait made fast and whirled,
And in the happy souls of them no care in all the world.

And now today he looks at me, and smiles down from the wall,
And seems to wonder as he looks that I have grown so tall;
He sees the wrinkles in my brow, my temples with gray hair,
While he has never changed the once from when I knew him there.
Upon his face that same glad smile that was so pure and fine,
A smile I often wish and pray that I might have for mine.
And often when the way is rough and struggle hard and grim,
I rest and dream a little while—and I remember him.

LEGION NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.—Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—Hundreds of disabled World war veterans may be enabled to renew their government insurance, now lapsed, as the result of a movement begun by American Legion officials, according to word received at the headquarters of the organization in this city.

Protests have been made by Legion posts in the various hospitals over the United States which have resulted in an action by the national legislative committee of the Legion which may lead to the reinstatement of many of the policies now inoperative.

The national legislative committee will ask the government officials to reverse a veterans' bureau ruling by means of which many men have been denied insurance. Forfeiting of compensation payments to the disabled to pay the insurance carried by the recipient when the compensation did not approximate the cost of the insurance has been refused by the veterans' bureau on the ground that it had no authority for such action, according to State Commander James Collins.

If the Legion is successful in the effort to obtain the requested reversal, many insurance policies of disabled men will be considered in force for the amount of insurance which unpaid compensation, due and owing from the government would have purchased. The ruling would affect a larger number of cases which were allowed to lapse and which the government, later acknowledging its indebtedness for compensation, did not carry for the amount which this money would purchase.

PENDROY CHRISTMAS TREE IS WORK OF ART

A large, beautifully decorated Christmas tree now graces the large covering over the doorway of Pendroy's store, Brand at Harvard, which is a work of art and engineering, the tree being strongly braced against a repetition of last week's severe wind.

The tree is the work of W. A. Hadden, head decorator and window trimmer of the store, and is beautifully decorated with tinsel, large blown glass fixtures, and a string of brilliantly colored electric lights illuminate it at night, creating a spirit of Christmas up and down the entire street.

Loan Value and Space Buying

BUSINESS concerns seeking credit at regular intervals submit detailed audits by disinterested public accountants. The banker making the loan demands it. These audits instantly disclose the exact financial condition of the business. They show the true value of inventories and assets; cost of operation; profits and loss. Such an audit creates confidence and is considered a necessity in banking operations.

The A. B. C. audit serves a similar purpose in advertising. A publisher or his representative in selling space presents his latest A. B. C. report. This shows quantity, territory of distribution, methods by which circulation was secured, and many other details necessary for the intelligent purchase of advertising space.

A study of the A. B. C. audit brings out every detail of circulation data, and immediately establishes confidence between the Buyer and Seller of Space.

For publishers to sell and advertisers to buy on the basis of A. B. C. reports is nothing more than putting efficient Business Methods into Advertising.

Let the Glendale Press submit their latest A. B. C. report before you make your next advertising contract.
